

Did You Know...

In Australia, on average...

Bachelor's Degree Graduates

37.7% are male

62.3% are female

By the number of graduates...

Accounting

Agricultural Sciences

Economics & Business and Mathematics

are the most gender balanced study areas...

In 2011, Bachelors degree graduates in...

Dentistry, Optometry

and Earth Sciences

earnt the highest salaries

in their first year of full-time employment

For Bachelors degree graduates

in their first year of full-time employment...

On average, men earn

$2,000 more than their female counterparts

Agricultural Science and Engineering

graduates tend to get paid equally

There is no relation between field dominance and resulting salaries.

What about Postgraduates?

On average, men earn

$12,000

more than their female counterparts

The Education sector has the least variance between genders

Coursework Masters graduates have the highest salaries, but also have the most variance between genders

References

<http://www.graduatecareers.com.au/>

<http://www.abs.gov.au>